Bishop Sharma D. Lewis said,

“United Methodist Church secretaries are called to ministry as surely as any pastor. It is clear that those who work in the various administrative and support staff positions in the Church are called to ministry and they are partners in Christ’s ministry. It is also clear that the more effective and efficient these persons are in their various areas of responsibility, the greater the opportunities for advancing the kingdom of God through your local church.... Support your administrative and support staff by acknowledging their participation in PAUMCS.”

Speakers for the Day

John Fuller will present an overview of the Virginia Conference health plans and take a look at the challenges faced by all employer-sponsored plans, along with a review of the strategies that VUMPI is pursuing in order to maintain stable and affordable health care coverage for clergy and lay employees of the Conference.

John has served as the Executive Director of Virginia United Methodist Pensions, Inc. for six years. Prior to joining VUMPI, John worked with Mercer and Anthem Blue Cross and Blue Shield. John and his family worship at Good Shepherd UMC in Richmond.

great asset to the local church - and a great way to empower and equip disciples. He'll show us how to use volunteer management best practices with a faith-based lens to energize and equip your volunteers for Kingdom service. Some topics covered will be spiritual gift-based roles, recruitment strategies, volunteer orientation, and volunteer appreciation.

Chris is an ordained Elder in the Virginia Conference, serving in extension ministry as an associate consultant and facilitator with The Spark Mill, a Richmond-based strategic planning and consulting firm (www.thesparkmill.com). Chris is passionate about big ideas that create lasting positive impact. His energy and passion, combined with big picture thinking, have helped teams create and deliver innovative and exciting solutions to organizational problems. Prior to going into extension ministry, Chris spent over 15 years leading small, medium and large congregations in both rural and suburban settings. The Spark Mill works with non-profits and associations, small business and start-ups, and higher education and faith-based groups. Chris and his wife, Jill, live in Richmond with their two boys. They attend New Life UMC in Chesterfield.
